TO LAY PENNINE PAVING

A firm and level foundation should be prepared before commencing to lay the paving.

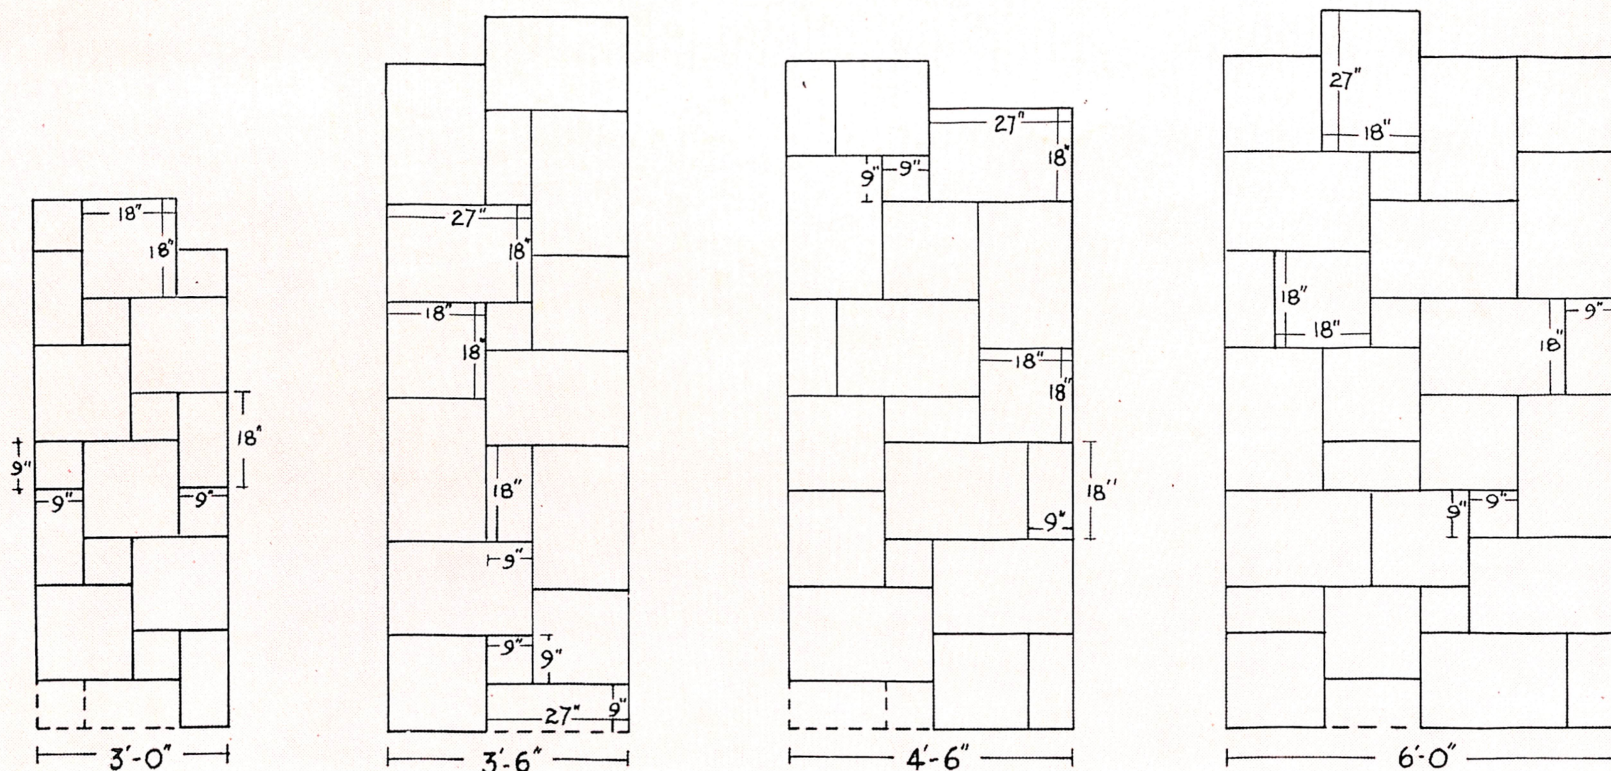

For areas which are subject only to casual pedestrian traffic, the 'Dry Method' should be used i.e., spread a layer of sand or soil to a depth of  $\frac{3}{4}$ ", bed the paving firmly on the layer, making sure each stone is level, and fill the gaps with fairly dry sand. If the area is to carry heavy lawn mowers, barrows, etc., it is advisable to prepare a level foundation of cement mortar (5 parts sand to 1 of cement) again to approximately  $\frac{3}{4}$ " in depth.

The colours shown in the brochure are as exact as colour photography will allow, but slight variation may occur.
