Marshalls open new Design Space in Birmingham

Marshalls plc, the UK's leading manufacturer of hard landscaping products, will open a Design Space in Birmingham this September, the company's first outside London.

Following the success of their flagship Design Space in Clerkenwell, Marshalls will be offering a creative and inspiring space for Architects, Landscape Architects and design professionals to escape the office and explore new ideas.

The exclusive venue will be located inside the prestigious 36 Bennetts Hill offices, in the heart of the central business district of Birmingham city centre. Visitors will have access to brochures, samples and swatches from Marshalls' full product range, but the Design Space will be much more than just a showroom.

Martyn Coffey, Chief Executive of Marshalls said:

"Since it opened in 2015, the Marshalls Design Space in London has become a hub for professionals seeking inspiration away from their desks, and we're looking forward to bringing this to Birmingham. From private events to client meetings, seminars to CPD sessions, clients will be able to book our space for free, as well as use it to meet with Marshalls experts to discuss project ideas and designs.

Birmingham is a fantastic city with an exciting future ahead of it, we're really pleased to be making a commitment to the city. Ideas for a number of London's most recent developments were formulated inside our Design Space – so who knows how Marshalls will inspire Birmingham!"

Marshalls Design Space Birmingham will be opening its doors publicly from 16th September.
